

ALL LOCAL TENNIS RECORDS BROKEN IN A REMARKABLE 22-20 CONTEST

EXTRAORDINARY EVENT OCCURRED LAST SATURDAY ON THE COURTS OF THE NARBERTH TENNIS ASSOCIATION—ALSO, KIRKPATRICK WINS EXHIBITION SINGLES AND SHAW AND PENNO WIN CONSOLATION MATCH.

Shades of all the Marathons of ancient Greece, also all the six-day bicycle races, and all the Chinese plays, and all the sordid stories by Robert W. Chambers! Shades even of Al Tennyson's well and favorably known creek which is reputed to have run on and on and on for quite some considerable time.

The fact is, you may wipe from the blackboard of your memory every character of event, work of art, or sporting event, hitherto used in song and story to illustrate the qualities of endurance, longevity, sustained interest, and other such things. Forget everything of the sort that happened prior to last Saturday and remember that—

On Saturday, July 12, 1919, late in the afternoon, there was staged on the courts of the Narberth Tennis Association at Elmwood and Essex avenues, a doubles set of tennis that went to the extraordinary score of 22 to 20, thereby breaking all records in the history of the Association—at least, within the recollection of such "older statesmen" as Ponce Burkhardt, Perry Redifer, Bill Hall, Walter Shaw and one or two others.

The contestants in this memorable battle—or perhaps we should say the "survivors"—were Bill Hall and Bob Patterson, comprising one team, and Walter Shaw and Lawrence Warwick. And we should also say that Shaw and Warwick were more nearly "conscious" when the 41st game was started, and consequently they won the 41st and the 42nd games, and the match, by the score of 22 to 20.

The set had nothing to do with the Fourth of July Tournament, which was also finished on Saturday, but started simply as all the other impromptu matches last. But when the score began to get up around 10-11 and 15-14 and 16-17, all the other players began to take notice and gather 'round. In fact, play on the other courts came practically to a standstill.

As a rule, each player won his serve, and when Shaw and Warwick would break in on Hall's or Patterson's serve and take the game, Hall and Patterson would turn the tables on the very next game and win on Shaw's or Warwick's serve. And thus the score saw-sawed back and forth—15-16, 16-16, 17-16, 17-17.

From time to time play was suspended for 37 or 38 seconds while the players "staggered" over to the water bucket and quenched their thirsts. A relay of water carriers fetched fresh supplies of the sparkling liquid from the famous Bertsimpson Springs, and the Board of Governors had just held a special meeting and decided to telephone the Bryn Mawr Hospital to send down a couple of ambulances, when the score reached 20-20, and "Ponce" Burkhardt said, "Wait, I have an idea we're almost to the end." And Ponce was right, as he generally is in tennis matters. Shaw and Warwick broke in on their opponents' serve and won a game and then topped off that achievement by winning their serve and the game.

Theoretically Shaw and Warwick are entitled to be acclaimed the "Long Distance Champions of the Association," and it would, of course, be very clubby, you know, and everything like that, to so greet them the next time you meet them in the Post Office or on the platform at the station.

But in the opinion of a veteran sporting editor who for many years held the championship of South Jersey in the Annual Long Distance Shredded Wheat Biscuit Eating Carnival—in other words, we say in our humble opinion, any man who has the endurance, courage, pertinacity, determination, grit, etc., to play 42 continuous games of tennis in one set, after playing in other sets practically all afternoon, is entitled to all the honor and glory that can be heaped upon him.

So, ladies and gentlemen of our fair and booming Borough, we take great pleasure in pointing out, first that Messrs. Shaw and Warwick won this notable 42 centimeter contest, and second, that the living heroes of the day are, reading from left to right: Messrs. Walter Y. Shaw, Lawrence Warwick, W. R. D. Hall, and Robert E. Patterson, Jr.

The only other remark that we have to make about this game is that Walter Shaw not only retained his title as champion standing and running broad and high jumper in the Tennis Association, but also established several new records. Using one of the well-known Burroughs adding machines, Bill Kirkpatrick figured that Shaw made a total 109 leaps and ascensions, covering a distance, as the crow flies—and you may take this literally, for Walter is no landlubber if there is any chance of swatting it on the fly—of 26 miles, and a grand or aggregate altitude of twice the height of Billy Penn's statue on top of City Hall, which, as Commander Read or Captain Jack Alcock or any member of the crew of the R 32 would readily admit, is some achievement to have achieved in one single set of doubles.

And now, lest we be sued for "contempt of court" by several other members of the Association, we hasten to chronicle the fact that in the two events left over from the Fourth of July Tournament, Kirkpatrick defeated Newell in the final match of the exhibition singles, 6-4 and 6-2, and Shaw and Penno defeated Schulte and Thomas in the consolation doubles, 4-6, 6-0, 6-3.

Yep, and we hate to give him any more publicity, but the fact is that this Shaw of the firm of Shaw and Penno is the same gentleman who figured in the big 22-20 contest to which some passing reference has been made somewhere in one of the foregoing paragraphs.

NAB ALLEGED THIEF.

Horace Smedley, Norman Kriebel and four or five other young men of Narberth, returning from a motor ride Friday night to the log cabin office of William D. Smedley, at Narberth and Haverford avenues, to get Kriebel's coat, saw a light in the place.

They surrounded the building and spied a man ransacking the place. The men stationed themselves at the doors and windows, telling the intruder they would "lick the tar out of him if he tried to come out," and sent for Policeman Dan Hill, who arrested the man. He was held in $500 bail for Montgomery County Court by Magistrate Brockmeyer. He said he was John Roberts, 21, of Wilkes-Barre.

Editorial

To the Editor of Our Town:

The trying experience of an automobile party from "up state" a few days ago brought to light the fact that there is apparently no designation on the Lincoln Highway directing strangers where to turn off in order to bring them directly into town.

The case in point is that of John B. Otto, city engineer of Williamsport, Pa., who with his wife and two of his daughters was aiming to reach Narberth, where he eventually spent several days with a third daughter, Mrs. J. Stuart Freeman, of 226 North Narberth avenue.

Beginning at Bryn Mawr, he asked if he were heading the shortest way for Narberth, being on the Lincoln Highway. Thereafter he asked the same question several times, and in each instance was assured that he would "pass right through Narberth," but finally he found himself at the fire house at Sixty-third and Lancaster avenue, Overbrook.

Of course, then it was necessary to practically retrace part of his route, at least as to the general direction, and incidentally to wonder if no one east of Ardmore knows that the Highway does not lead into Narberth, and further why there is no identification even in the Blue Book for finding our interesting community.

As a result, cannot the influence of Our Town or the Civic Association be brought to bear to correct what must thus far be an unintentional, though none the less deplorable oversight? A single sign at either of the two points in Ardmore would serve, or a couple showing the way through Wynnewood could be erected.

J. STUART FREEMAN.

CIVIC ASSOCIATION REPRESENTATIVE DIVULGES INSIDE WORKINGS OF OUR MUNICIPAL MACHINERY.

To the Editor of Our Town:

Representing the Narberth Civic Association, I had the opportunity last Monday evening of obtaining an insight into the municipal machinery which contributes so manifestly to the attractiveness of our borough and the comfort of its residents. It is a matter of regret that others were not present to witness the earnest, careful and able efforts put forth by the President and his associates. A representative attendance would be welcomed, as I was, I am sure. A cordial co-operation was in evidence, whereby I was materially assisted in collecting some items which I think should interest all the residents, certainly the taxpayers. The Association will endeavor to have its representative at every meeting of Council, and possibly at the preceding committee meetings. A working arrangement with Mr. Noel, the Secretary, has been started which should be mutually helpful. Summarizing the proceedings:

Tax Collector Jones gathered in $234.71 during June on account of the 1918 taxes. Treasurer Dold finds he is responsible for balances aggregating $590.87. Building Inspector swapped permits for the significant sum of $59. Bills amounting to $2,535.45 that presumably had been carefully scrutinized by the Finance Committee were ordered paid. A Council meeting would be lacking in completeness without bills for consideration.

Mr. Hill rounded up three victims. One sad but wiser individual was separated from $5.00 because he preferred the sidewalk to the street for bicycle riding.

Officer Hill reported the parking of cars all night without lights. The delinquent owners will be reminded.

The activity of the Committee on Highways and Sewers has resulted in sidewalks, curbing and gutters being repaired, many owners co-operating in the laudable work. Others will wish they had done likewise.

President of Council and the Burgess will have a heart-to-heart conference as to the objectionable condition of shade trees along sidewalks. The Shade Tree Committee seems to have discharged itself.

Property owners who have not paid up for 1918 taxes have had liens filed against them, according to statement made by the Borough Solicitor.

Tax Collector Jones' bond for $80,000.00, issued by the Merion Title and Trust Company, after some discussion as to its sufficiency in respect to the period covered, was approved and executed and the proper authorization conveyed to R. C. Jones to collect. So he departed for Pittsburgh happy in the thought of the pleasure in store for the taxpayers. Of course, his remuneration is merely incidental.

Mr. F. R. Gifford was unanimously elected Auditor in succession to Mr. Carl Metzger. Let our good wishes attend this additional guardian of our local interests.

The Borough's credit is to be used to the additional extent of $2,000.00 to supply the needful until R. C. Jones fills up the treasury.

The Borough Solicitor has made the comforting assertion that shortly a settlement in full will be in hand for delinquent taxes. Most of us have heard more or less about them. Speed the day.

President Hall and his colleagues are attempting something never before contemplated, or at least put over. In other words, they, through the Finance Committee, are managing the finances in such fashion that the lean months of 1920 will be taken care of by the excess from 1919. So there will be probably no necessity for borrowing as in the present instance.

Did you know that Tax Collector Jones is obligated to produce the sum of $36,103.97 as the assessments for 1919?

Property owners along Price avenue would have forwarded their interests materially had they been present in regard to the paving they desire. The matter is reduced to correspondence. Moral: Present yourself to Council if you want anything. You may be able to help them and help yourself.

No permanent awnings are to be allowed over or on the sidewalks; hence the removal, as you may have noticed, of those heretofore decorating the American Stores Co. and Cut Price Fruit Store.

CAUGHT WITH PLUNDER.

Policeman Arrests Two Negroes with Four Suit Cases.

Passers-by along Montgomery avenue at 10.30 Sunday morning stopped to observe Policeman Lattimer McCurey, Lower Merion, holding two negroes at bay with a big revolver. The negroes, at the command of the policeman, opened four suit cases and displayed seven quarts of gin, seven quarts of whisky, three boxes of cigars, five khaki shirts and eighty-four pieces of silverware, besides a number of articles of clothing and some light fur rugs.

Taken to the Ardmore police station, the men gave their names as George Smith, Richmond, Va., and J. W. Nichols, who says he is a musician. The silver bears markings of "E. P. B. W.," and the Lower Merion police think the goods may have been stolen from the home of Mrs. Charles Williams, Cheswood Lane, Haverford, whose daughter is Mrs. Eleanor P. B. Wilbur, but Mrs. Williams and other members of the family are at Watch Hill, R. I., visiting Mrs. Clement A. Griscom, and will have to identify the goods.

DR. POWELL RESIGNS.

Declines Re-election as President of Lower Merion School Board.

Dr. William C. Powell has resigned as President of the Lower Merion Township School Board, owing to ill health, and at a meeting of the Board Mr. William L. Austin, of Rosemont, has been elected to succeed him.

Dr. Powell accepted the office of Vice-President to serve until the first Monday in December of this year, and William J. Byrnes, Jr., was re-elected Secretary, and William J. Clark, Treasurer, to serve until the first Monday in July of next year.

Dr. Powell has represented the Bryn Mawr district on the Board of Education for almost twenty years and has always devoted his energies to promoting the best interests of the children and the school district. He has constantly given his labor and time to the school affairs and his experience and excellent business judgment has been most valuable in bringing the township schools up to the high standard in which they are rated by the State and county officials.

THE FIRESIDE

One of our residents writes as follows:

"During the Union Services on Mr. Smedley's lawn on Sunday evenings, for an hour at least, a sign, or a volunteer, such as a Boy Scout, should be placed on Narberth avenue, at Windsor avenue, and another at Woodbine avenue, to request motorists to refrain from using cut-outs or excessive speed on the hill, and in going south to coast with engines slowed to the minimum, as far as possible. Your efforts along this line will be appreciated by several hundred of our citizens."

It is with rare circumstance that brings to the screen a production of such good quality as "The Turn of the Road," the super-photoplay to be shown at the Palace Theatre, Ardmore, on Wednesday. Never was a cast more carefully selected, each fitting his or her part as though made for it. No one will be able to forget Helen Jerome Eddy as she appears in the emotional role of Little Ben Alexander as the messenger of truth. The story is of intense human interest where the call of home leads wayward man into the sunshine of happiness.

Following the death of George Grafton, 42 years old, 5945 Irving street, West Philadelphia, in the Bryn Mawr Hospital Tuesday, from lockjaw, the police of Lower Merion Township are searching for the driver of a large touring car which struck him on June 28. The driver, who did not stop after striking Grafton, is wanted for murder. On that date Grafton was riding in a small roadster at Wynnewood. Without warning, the larger car turned a corner and collided with Grafton's machine, turning it over and injuring him and another occupant. The driver continued down Lancaster avenue and is believed to have struck another machine at City Line and Belmont avenue. Captain Donaghy, Chief of the Lower Merion Police Department, immediately ordered his men to go in search of the fugitive.

WHAT WAS IT?

A little girl was bidding her boy playmate good-by, and on this occasion, her mother told her to kiss him. She offered him a roguish cheek, and when the salute was gravely given, began to rub it vigorously with her handkerchief.

"Why Laura," said her mother, "you're not rubbing it off?"

"No, mamma," answered the little maiden, demurely, "I'm rubbing it in."

A PLENTIFUL MENU

"Probably the most varied diet in the world," said a traveler who had just returned from the Malay Peninsula, is that of the Jakuns of the Sea, or Orang Lauts, who are the real Malay pirates. These people have about all there is to eat, and they eat everything as it comes along.

"Although they have all kinds of fine fruits, at certain times of the year they eat a yam which is so poisonous that they have to grate it and mix it with slaked lime before they dare swallow it.

"In the way of flesh they eat monkeys, deer, wild pig, birds, rats, porcupines, lizards, squirrels, mice and snakes. And they seem to turn from venison to rat, or from wild pig to snake, with equal appetite."

A NECESSARY QUALIFICATION.

A school inspector in England asked a child in a primary school to tell him as nearly as possible what he understood a pilgrim to be.

"A pilgrim is a man who goes about a good deal," was the reply.

This seemed not quite satisfactory to the inspector, and he said, "I go about a good deal," but I am not a pilgrim."

"Please, sir, I mean a good man," was the eager addition.

Officer—"What is going on round here?"

Small Boy (disappearing)—"The earth."

"Why, mamma," asked a sweet young miss of five, "why do people have two ears when they can only hear one thing at a time?"

Professor Potterby—"As is well known to geographers, the Caspian Sea is eighty-four feet below the level of the Black Sea, which lies nearest it. This remarkable fact has never been satisfactorily explained."

Freshton—"Might it not be owing to a lack of water?"

No baggage master ever dares to handle an elephant's trunk roughly.

The above department should be of the greatest use to the community, the list contains the name of every professional man, tradesman, mechanic, shopkeeper, etc., who does or can in any way serve his fellow townsman, and who is progressive enough to add name to list of Register.

As it is difficult for those contributing their time and efforts to the production of "Our Town" to personally either know or interview all such, it would be most helpful if those not now found in the printed list would send in a memo of their names, address, phone numbers and businesses or professions for listing. This will cost as follows: 10 cents each issue for 2 lines; 5 cents for each additional line.
